

I have a fear...

We believe we are indispensable to God's work and plan.

We lose sight of the true DNA-Jesus Christ for he alone has "blood" in the game

We become an organization all the while we talk of becoming an organism.

We govern and market ourselves with conventional business and corporate principles.

We begin thinking we are the "change agent" forgetting it is Christ who is the "change agent."

We begin to believe that our materials, our methodology and our journey is the DNA.

We seek control instead of obedience

We seek security instead of faith.

We seek to inflict "our will" instead of surrendering to Christ's will.

The simple becomes complex.

We become leaders, instead of followers.

We focus on doing, instead of being.

We focus more on talking and less on listening.

We come to believe the revelation is our mission and vision, instead of God's revelation implemented through us, His servants.

We fail to let a man utilize his spiritual gift, because it makes us uncomfortable.

We become enamored with the revolution and forget we are revolutionaries.

We lose humility.

We fail to live on the edge of uncertainty, dependent upon God for everything.
